

John Mathias Superintendent

John Mathias brings more than 45 years of experience to Blach Construction. As General Superintendent and member of the Blach Leadership Team, he oversees all of Blach's craft workers, carpenters and superintendents. He is a natural leader and mentor, who takes pride in developing Blach field construction operations. With a thoughtful, hands-on approach, he visits jobsites often to confer and collaborate with project teams, ensuring they have the tools, training and resources to deliver the quality projects for which Blach is known.

A long-time construction veteran, John joined Blach in 2012 as a superintendent with a diverse portfolio of innovative, complex new construction and modernization projects. He managed and supervised day-to-day activity on individual construction sites until 2020, when he assumed his current role. Prior to joining Blach, John spent 25 years working for TBI, a firm he joined with experience that included large union construction projects for Swinerton Wallberg, Carl N. Swenson and K.J. McGranahan. He comes from a long line of tradesmen, dating back to his great-great-grandfather, who was a well-known gunsmith and master carpenter, as well as his father, a self-taught union carpenter and general contractor.
